

Anne Irene Stancil

August 21, 1926 - August 1, 2016

Anne Irene Stancil, affectionately called “Nana” was the only child born to Charlotte Edith Smallwood on August 21, 1926 in Baltimore, Maryland. She was educated in the Baltimore public school system and graduated from Fredrick Douglas High School.

She worked at Hecht-May Company for several years before landing a job with C & P Telephone Company where she worked as a supervisor until retiring after 30 years of service. During her career with C &P she received numerous awards and recognition.

Anne was married to the late Bishop Edward Stancil and was First Lady of Temple of God Pentecostal Church on Edgewood Street in Baltimore Md. She taught Sunday school, bible study, was a prayer warrior and lead prayer groups. She loved children and children loved her. You could often times find Nana’s porch filled with the neighborhood children, many of whom she introduced to the Lord. She was an avid reader and often enjoyed traveling with her seniors group.

Nana leaves behind a daughter, Andrea Meria Mitchell, a son, Dwight Michael Jackson, a step son, Leroy Franklin Jackson “Bunky”, a daughter-in-law, Pearl Kim Jackson, two grandsons, Alvin Mitchell and Michael Nicholas Jackson, two granddaughter-in-laws, Renae Mitchell and Lisa Mitchell, one step granddaughter, Denise Jackson, two great granddaughters, Khadijah and Salemah Mitchell and two great grandsons, Rasheed and Ahmad Mitchell and a Godson, Pastor Timothy McFadden. She also leaves behind to celebrate her life a host of family and friends whose lives she touched along the way with her caring spirit and abundance of wisdom.

For the past 10 years Nana lived in Atlanta, Ga. with her daughter who blessed her with excellent care.

Anne 'Nana' will be most remembered by family, loved ones, friends and people she met along the way for her nurturing spirit, warm and uplifting hugs, bright smile, willingness to give, witty wisdom, encouraging motivation and her unconditional love.
